The diagram features a white background with a blue rectangular border. Inside this border, there are three vertical lines of different colors: a blue line on the left, a red line to its right, and a green line further to the right. The text is positioned to the right of these lines. The blue text is aligned with the blue line, the red text is aligned with the red line, and the green text is aligned with the green line. The blue text is larger than the red and green text.
